PEOPLE WE KNOW.

When an incident like the following occurs right here at home, it is bound to carry weight with our readers. So many strange occurrences go the round of the press—are published as facts—people become skeptical. On one subject skepticism is rapidly disappearing. This is due to the actual experience of our citizens, and their public utterances regarding them. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as this. The public statement of a reputable citizen living right here at home, one whom you can see every day, leaves no ground for the skeptic to stand on.

Mr. M. Brunner of No. 215 South Third street says: "If I should ever have another attack of backuche and kidney complaint I now know what to use to get relief. I would immediately go to the Wolff-Wilson Drug Company's, corner of Sixth street and Washington avenue, for poan's Kidney Pills. They cured me of an attack which had clung to me persistently for a year. Despite all my efforts to eradicate the trouble, I was unable to check it. When Poan's Kidney Pills cured me they have my hearty indorsement."

This would have happened if the previous plans of the firewomen had been carried out: George R. Butters and C. N. Cobb would have hauled the chemical engine to the fire at a lively sprint; Marshal Koethe would have shouted orders to Assistant Marshal Mrs. E. O. Eames, They would have been passed down to the ranks through Miss Harriet Sayre, the captain, and the flames would have been squelched with a promptness that would have done Mont Clare society proud.

As it was, Assistant Marshal Mrs. Eames could not find her rubbers and Captain Sayre was downtown shopping. George DuPuys, the telegraph operator and nozateman of the brigade, was busy and could not leave his post. Then Johnnie Miller, It years old, saw his father's house afire, and, with two playmaters, threw water on the fire and went back to school.

The Century building is said to be the largest office structure in the city, and was erected in the early nineties at a cost of nearly $90,000. A Chicago syndicate and several local capitalists were interested in the erection of the structure. Its present bonded indebtedness is $75,000.

The disposal of the little strip of property on the corner will be of interest, as a deal was recently concluded by which a small strip on the site of the Nugent building, at Broadway and Washington avenue, was sold to the owner of the remainder of the site. At present the strip in the Century building site is under lease. The lease of the Century Building Company for the entire site is for ninety-nine years.
